In appreciation of their work and dedication throughout the school year, hundreds of local fifth and sixth grade students who participate in the School Safety Patrol program at their schools will be treated to the San Diego Police Department's annual holiday party and carnival. On a daily basis, they are tasked with the safe movement of pedestrians and vehicles at nearly 90 schools throughout the City.

The highlight of the day will be the promotion of fifteen specially selected members. These students were chosen for their leadership and contributions to their school and community.

Chief Lansdowne will present awards at the ceremony which will take place in the Madison High School Gymnasium. Following the awards ceremony, all participants will enjoy a day of video games, rides and food.
